JFK plot facts withheld from Kennedy family says Garrison

By CARROLL P. TROSCLAIR
NEW ORLEANS UPI — President Johnson "knows very well that Lee Oswald did not pull the trigger," Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison said Tuesday, and charged Johnson and J. Edgar Hoover have kept the truth about the assassination of President Kennedy from the Kennedy family.

Garrison, asserting that at least 15 persons including right wing extremists were involved in a conspiracy to murder Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963, said

Johnson and the federal government are "protecting the assassins every day."

In a day of fast-moving developments in his year-old assassination probe, Garrison said:

Oswald was working as a federal agent in November, 1963, and advised the Federal Bureau of Investigation of a plot to kill President Kennedy in Dallas.

At least 15 persons were involved in the conspiracy, including right wing extremists.

Communists were not involved in the plot.

He fears the Warren Commission's secret documents may be changed before they are released to the public.

He finds it unusual that three Democratic governors have interfered with his investigation by refusing to extradite witnesses to Louisiana.

He did not know whether Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, a Republican, would extradite Edgar Eugene Bradley, the second man Garrison has charged with conspiracy in the assassination.

Garrison, blasting away at Johnson for not releasing the Warren Commission secret documents, said the federal government "is protecting the assassins every day."

"It is my feeling that President Johnson was not involved in the assassination, but wouldn't it be nice to know that he was not involved," Garrison said. "We'll never know that he was not involved until he stops concealing the evidence."

Garrison said the Kennedy family was not aware of a federal "coverup" because it was getting its information from Johnson and Hoover, the FBI chief.

In other developments in Garrison's investigation:

The Los Angeles district attorney's office issued a fugitive complaint against Bradley.

Bradley's boss, conservative radio evangelist Rev. Carl McIntire, said in Collingswood, N.J., that his organization has been able to pinpoint Bradley's activities and show Bradley was nowhere near Dallas Nov. 22.

New anti-drinking laws lower British fatalities

LONDON UPI — Holiday traffic deaths and the total number of road accidents over Christmas dropped sharply. Experts attributed it to Britain's strict new antidrinking laws.

Figures for the first four days of the five day Christmas holiday, released Tuesday, showed 86 persons died on Britain's highways, compared with 136 last year.

The number of highway accidents fell by almost 1,000 from 3,699 last year to 2,730 this year.

Everyone agreed the breathalyzer — a roadside test given by police to suspected drunken drivers — was mainly responsible for the dramatic reduction in deaths and accidents.

Instead of risking heavy fines, jail sentences and loss of driving privileges, many motorists simply stayed off the highways. Others insisted their wives drive home from parties.

But many partygoers, an official of the Royal Automobile Club (RAC) said, arrived home safely by refusing to have "one for the road."

"This is the first Christmas we've had the breath test," an RAC spokesman said. "It seems to have paid off."

The only persons unhappy about the situation were pub owners. They said the breath tests had changed London into "a ghost town."

Hundreds of motorists were given the breath test Christmas day and eve. Dozens of drivers showed a positive reaction to the chemically treated test tube and balloon, making them liable to prosecution or further testing.

Higher Cong casualties predicted

SAIGON UPI—Gen. William G. Westmoreland said today the Communists have suffered "dreadful losses" this year and even more will die in 1968 as North Vietnam continues feeding troops into the south.

The commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam said the Communists will continue to fight both guerrilla operations and "main force" operations next year. That strategy cost them some 80,000 men killed in 1967, he said.

The four-star general made the comments in an interview with Mutual Broadcasting Co.

"During the past year the enemy has suffered dreadful casualties while deploying large forces," he said. "But I see no evidence that he's going to change this general strategy."

The Communists are having recruiting problems, he said, "which forces them to send more men from the north." Westmoreland said his plan "is to make this strategy as costly to him as possible by inflicting on him maximum casualties . . . so that the cost of his aggression during the coming year will even be higher than it was during the past year."

The general said "one of the spectacular developments" in 1967 was the opening of roads in South Vietnam.

"It is now possible to go by road from Saigon to the extreme northern part of the country to the vicinity of the so-called Demilitarized Zone," he said.

He said he thought the opening of roads would have during the coming year "a dramatic impact on the countryside, for the government will be able to communicate with the people, the people will be able to travel to the towns and cities. The merchants will be able to trade with the people . . . the government will be able to explain to the people its programs."

Crawfordsville girl is rescued from abductors

WELLINGTON, Utah UPI—A 16-year-old girl, who had eaten only candy bars since her abduction Sunday from Crawfordsville, Ind., was rescued in this small central Utah community Tuesday night. Janet Downen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Downen, of Crawfordsville, was freed after a Wellington marshal stopped the car in which Miss Downen was riding with her two abductors. The car was stopped on a downtown Wellington street.

One of the alleged kidnapers was apprehended and the second remained at large.

Marshal Delon Atwood said the search centered in a five-mile radius of this town of 1,006 residents, four miles east of Price, Utah.

About 14 deputy sheriffs and members of the Utah Highway Patrol searched for a man described as a "full blooded American Indian" and known only as "Jerry," age 25.

Being held at the Carbon County Jail was Thomas Franklin Stevens, 23, of Terre Haute, Ind.

The arrest came after a fish and game warden was approached by the two men, traveling with Miss Downen in her father's car, and asked if he wished to buy a radio. When the men opened the trunk, the warden noticed there was no spare tire and became suspicious and alerted police.

Marshal Atwood spotted the car some time later on the main street of Wellington and, when he attempted to stop the car, the men tried to run him down. He fired once with a shotgun and one of the pellets struck Stevens in the hand. The second man fled from the car on foot.

Stevens was an ex-convict from the Indiana State Prison, where the second man was reportedly a parolee.

Miss Downen told rescuers she was abducted from a Crawfordsville supermarket Sunday when one of the men, hiding in the rear seat of the car, forced her at gunpoint to pick up the second man. She said she had eaten only candy bars stolen from service stations the pair burglarized during the cross-country trip.

Big Walnut reservoir assailed by League

FORT WAYNE UPI — The Indiana Natural Resources Commission has been accused of being "surrounded by virtual secrecy and manipulated information."

Thomas E. Dustin, Fort Wayne, national vice president of the Isaak Walton League, said the proposed Big Walnut flood control reservoir near Greencastle, which was approved by the commission last Thursday, will destroy "one of Indiana's last important near-wilderness areas."

Dustin said conservationists will ask the U.S. Department of Justice to "determine if any federal laws have been broken" regarding secrecy.

Dustin said the project will be "a $36 million additional burden to the federal and state taxpayers," and would flood thousands of acres of good farmland for which as little as $60 an acre was paid.

The Big Walnut dam would be built under present plans by the U.S. Corps of Engineers 35 miles west of Indianapolis.

Culley residence is swept by flames

A fire, apparently starting about 7:45 this morning, swept the two-story frame residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Culley, on Frazier Street in North Greencastle.

City firemen answered the alarm at 8 o'clock and two trucks were sent to the scene. A third truck was then called in order to have adequate length of fire hose.

The home is located east of 43 on the street north of the Farm Bureau Insurance building which is a short distance north of the Jackson Street Monon Railroad crossing.

Mr. Culley's wife, Goldie, who was asleep, awoke to find the house on fire. Melvin Mangus, who owns a nearby business, was the first on the scene and helped Mrs. Culley out of the house.

Her son, Lloyd, arrived about that time and Mr. Mangus put her in his car and she was taken to the Putnam County Hospital's emergency ward.

President will host Israeli Prime Minister next month

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. UPI—President Johnson dug in today for a lengthy stay at the LBJ Ranch that will include a two-day visit by Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol and heavy concentration on next year's budget.

Shortly after Johnson's post-Christmas arrival here, the Texas White House announced that Eshkol and his wife would be guests at the hill country ranch Jan. 7 and 8.

Presidential Press Secretary George Christian said he expected it to be a "fairly busy time" for the President, who will be organizing his State of the Union and budget messages for the return of Congress.

The Chief Executive also needs to dispose of some 40 bills awaiting his action in the next few days.

Shuttling from Washington for ranch talks with Johnson will be Budget Director Charles L. Schultze and other Cabinet officers. Schultze and the President are in the final stages of honing the over-size government agency spending requests for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Johnson also has been working on the current budget to comply with the $4.3 billion slash ordered by Congress, at his request.

The agenda for Eshkol's "informal" visit was not disclosed. However, Israeli officials are making a strong bid for the administration to provide their country with 50 F4 Phantom jets to build up their arsenal in the tense Middle East. So far their requests have been turned down.

Johnson and Eshkol also were expected to discuss Israeli proposals for peace with Arab neighbors stemming from the war last June.

HOME SWEEP BY FLAMES—City firemen battled a fire this morning that swept the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Culley, on Frazier Street, in north Greencastle.

Mrs. Culley was taken to the Putnam County Hospital for treatment after being helped out of the burning residence.

Fatal accident

WORTHINGTON UPI — Wallace Wolfe, 53, Clay City, was killed Tuesday afternoon when he apparently fell into the gears of a crane at a Peabody Coal Co. mine near here.

There were no witnesses and the accident was not discovered until the crane shut down.

by HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

For young parents on the go like us who don't have those fancy insulated bags or car adapter bottle warmers, here's what to do:

Put your baby's bottles in the freezing compartment for five minutes for an extra chill.

While chilling the bottles, boil a large pan of water and pour it in a vacuum bottle. Get out a one-pound coffee can, too.

Wrap bay's bottle separately in terry cloth dish towels or hand towels, and secure with a rubber band. When feeding baby that towel is better than a bib. It fits snugly beneath baby's chin and around his shoulders.

When feeding time comes around use that coffee can as a bottle warmer by pouring some hot water in it and setting the bottle down inside. The boiled water in the vacuum bottle is HOT and works fast, so watch the bottle closely. When the bottle is warm, pour the water back in the vacuum bottle to be used over again for the next feeding.

Mrs. M. J. Griffin

Dear Heloise:

That nylon net again: A tube of it pulled over a terry cloth hand towel is just great as a back scrubber.

It is long enough to reach for seessawing, and sure feels good. I couldn't do without mine.

Grandma

Dear Heloise:

When melting oleo to pour in pancake or waffle batter, I put a little water in the pan when I heat the margarine.

This prevents the margarine from browning and the water just steams off.

Nona McCall

Dear Heloise:

Most mothers like to save their children's report cards and photos, etc. But these things will clutter up drawers, get mixed up or may become lost just lying around the house.

Why not buy a scrap book or some heavy paper that won't yellow, and has loose leaf holes so you can tie it together with a cord or ribbon. Make SURE you can add more sheets if needed.

On the first page write your child's name and history. On the following pages put the birth record, then the report cards, pictures, certificates, greeting cards, school poems, clippings, etc.

You can use photo mountings or tape to stick these on.

The books can be kept up to date for many years and anytime you want to look something up you know right where to go.

This is especially nice for large families. Each child's record of events are all organized and kept in order.

My favorite method of clamping a small article after repairing it with glue, is to use a snap clothespin.

12 Chinese Reds seek asylum

MACAO UPI—A dozen Communist Chinese who said they preferred death to going back to their homeland escaped in a junk Tuesday and surrendered to police in this Portuguese colony.

The defectors, 11 men and a woman, faced the likelihood of being sent back to China. Macao has an agreement with China to return escapees.

The 12 young people, all in their 20s, sailed into Macao's outer harbor, got out of the junk and sat on a stone breakwater.

Two Portuguese gunboats approached and warned the Chinese to get off the breakwater. They stayed.

The gunboats could not get close enough to take the escapees off but towed away the junk, leaving the refugees stranded.

Marine police later picked them up with a launch.

"We would rather die than be captured," the escapees told police.

Macao has a refugee return agreement with China which the Portuguese enclave was forced to sign last January. It was one of a number of concessions Red China insisted on following weeks of Communist-inspired rioting and terror in Macao.

Soviets launch Satellite 197

MOSCOW UPI—The Soviet Union has launched another unmanned satellite, No. 197 in its Cosmos series, the Tass news agency announced.

Tass said the sputnik had been placed in an orbit with an initial period of 91.5 minutes. The maximum distance from the earth was 313.6 and the minimum 130. The inclination was 485 degrees.

It was the 50th Cosmos shot of the year, a year in which the Soviets made the first soft landing on another planet with their Venus 4 rocket and the first automatic linking of two satellites in orbit.

It also was a year in which one Soviet space shot ended in tragedy. On April 14 the spaceship Soyuz 1 crashlanded, killing cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov.

Tass gave no details on Cosmos 197's precise mission. Past Cosmos flights have charted orbital conditions for space shots, investigated radiation effects on dogs and other animals and conducted aerial espionage on the west.

Woman wounded by young bandit

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—A young bandit who posed as a job applicant for about two hours shot and wounded a restaurant manager during a hold-up here Thursday.

The manager, Mrs. Florence Conner, 52, remained in fair condition today at Community Hospital here. She was shot twice in the stomach with a .22 caliber revolver. Mrs. Althea Land, 39, assistant manager of the restaurant, was treated for shock after the incident.

Employees said the bandit entered the restaurant early Tuesday afternoon, asked for a job as a kitchen helper and then sat in a booth to fill out a job application. He then went to the restaurant office for an interview.

Police said that, during the interview, the man apparently drew a gun and demanded money and then shot Mrs. Conner when she resisted. The bandit grabbed about $100 from a cash drawer and fled out the rear door of the restaurant.

Vows exchanged

The marriage of Miss Karen Jean Sears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sears, Greencastle, and David Earl Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Reeves, Greencastle was solemnized Sunday at 2:30, November 26, in the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Charles Brown, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The attendant bridesmaid was Mrs. Bruce Finkbinder. Both were attired in floor length blue gowns with floor length cowls of a deep blue. Velvet bows secured their headpieces of short illusion veiling. They carried yellow and bronze chrysanthemum sprays.

Best man was Robert Wells, brother of the bride. Groomsmen were Charles Jones, brother of the groom, and Richard Sears, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a rose beige lace dress with brown accessories. The groom's mother wore a teal blue silk linen dress with gold accessories. Their corsages were bronze chrysanthemums.

The wedding guests were registered by Miss Debra Wells, and Miss Donna Wells, nieces of the bride.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony.

Comes a long way in 17 years

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Seventeen years ago two five-block areas near downtown Indianapolis were occupied by weeds, ramshackle wooden houses, and very few people. They had been written off nearly 50 years before and the city tiptoed around them when it came to supplying such services as street cleaning and garbage collection.

But to Dr. Cleo W. Blackburn, director of Flanner House, a United Fund agency, the two east and west side areas were just what he wanted for an all-Negro housing project.

Blackburn, now 58 and director of Flanner House for 33 years, snapped up the land from the Indianapolis Redevelopment Commission which was begging for bids on it, sweet-talked local banks into putting up mortgage money, and construction companies into teaching his prospective residents how to build houses.

Before this, many Negroes in the city either could not afford to buy houses or could not obtain mortgages.

Started From Scratch

The projects started from scratch with the razing of buildings, re-excavating the land and surveying of plots. The men were organized into teams of 20, taught a particular construction skill in a workshop set up by Flanner and started building the houses during their spare time. Working jigs of the sides, roofs and windows of the houses were built in the shop to insure accuracy. While it took 5,600 man hours to put the first houses, the time later was reduced to 900 man hours.

When the projects were completed two years ago, they contained 400 three-bedroom frame and masonry houses on lots of 50 by 130 feet. While all the houses on the west side were built by Flanner House Homes Inc., the housing arm of Flanner House, private developers also went into the east side area. Each house carried a price tag of $12,000 to $14,500.

Under what was termed a "sweet-equity" program, each man's labor was tallied to apply towards 30 to 40 per cent of the cost of the house, enabling people to buy more expensive houses than their salaries might otherwise allow.

Given "Pointers"
In addition to learning construction skills, the new homeowners were given pointers about insurance and mortgages. Their wives were taught how to upholster furniture and make curtains for their homes.

The majority of the first residents still live there. Many have added rooms and attached garages to their homes.

The projects were not the first of their sort, the Friends having done the same thing on a smaller scale, but they have involved the construction of more houses than other self-help organizations in the nation. The success is credited to the dynamic leadership of Blackburn who now is promoting the idea across the country.

The residential revival of the two slum areas had many salutary side effects. Three apartment complexes sprung up on the west side. A shopping center was built on the west side while on the more residential east side, several small stores were opened. A new school was built on the east side and the educational and athletic facilities at the high school on the west side were improved.

Known before as the areas with the highest crime rates in the city, the two now have no appreciable rate and where before the land bore virtually no property value, the projects now return millions of dollars of tax revenue to the city.

But the Flanner House staff pointed out building up of the areas is not the only goal that has been accomplished.

work together, and their responsibility as homeowners and citizens."

More self-help housing projects are planned for Indianapolis by Flanner House, but the skyrocketing cost of land has not made possible the setting of a starting date. They will be different from the two all-Negro, single family home ones, Cummings said.

"There will be a physical mix of housing and a mixture of social, economic and racial groups," he said. "This sort of thing is the only answer for understanding."

A Woman's View

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK UPI—So you long for a leopard coat, an alligator handbag, both status symbols in the fashion whirl.

Satisfy that yearning and you contribute to what conservationists fear will be the extinction of course of nature's rare beauties. Look for status elsewhere and you help to guarantee a future for many creatures whose numbers speedily are dwindling.

One woman whose lifetime advocacy has been the animal kingdom calls on women everywhere to join in conserving nature's disappearing heritage.

The method, as Emily Hahn outlines it, is simple. Just stop buying furs made from such as the leopard, jaguar or cheetah which are being killed off at an alarming rate. Boycott accessories from the alligator whose hide is so valued that conservationists fear its extinction.

"I would like to take any woman longing for a leopard coat on a leopard hunt," said Miss Hahn, the well-known author.

"You don't kill one leopard for one coat. You kill off many in that search for the unmarred skins.

"I just don't think women really are aware of what they're doing when they consider things like leopard and alligator as status in their wardrobes. There are other less bloody symbols—Rolls Royces, emeralds and diamonds, husbands with titles..."

If you insist on status in fur, why not mink, Miss Hahn continued. "The mink's future is safe... we breed them by the millions domestically."

"But I don't think I'll ever again own any fur," she added. "The only one I have now is a Hudson seal, about 10 years old."

Miss Hahn discussed the saving of rare wild animals in an interview on publication of her book, "Animal Gardens" (Doubleday) a fascinating study of public and private zoos around the world.

Miss Hahn has been an animalophile since her childhood in St. Louis where she remembers "I was taken by stroller to the zoo in Forest Park. 'Zoo' is on her list of 'first to see' in any city she visits.

But she grew up to study mining engineering, mineralogy and anthropology and to write more than 30 books. Perhaps her best known work is "China To Me," a personal account of pre-World War II days in the land now behind the Bamboo Curtain.

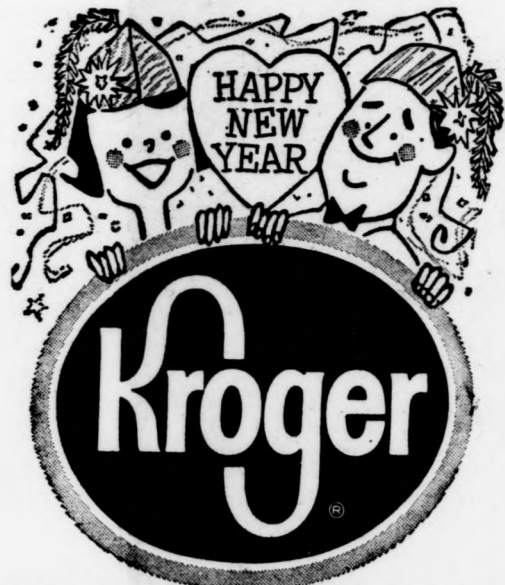

It was in the Orient that she met her husband, Maj. Charles Boxer, and the couple now live in London. They have two daughters and two small grandchildren.

Really now, why all the fuss about preserving a rare breed, I asked.

"Well, then why preserve anything," she answered. "Why did we keep the Declaration of Independence?"

"Perhaps," she added, "it's the scientist in me, but I would say to any woman, 'Which is more beautiful—the animal or the coats?'"

YOUTHS QUESTIONED

GARY, UPI — Police questioned 25 youths, many of them high school students, who were arrested in a raid on a drinking party at a southside Gary home last weekend.

Those arrested ranged in age from 14 to 25. The owner of the raided house, John Antic, was being held on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Seek to quiet Cambodia fears

WASHINGTON UPI — The State Department sought Tuesday to quiet the fears of Cambodia that U.S. military forces might move into that neutral country to root out Communist Vietnamese military elements which take refuge there.

Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said he wanted to reaffirm that the United States has "no hostile intention toward Cambodia" and will continue to seek a peaceful settlement of the problem posed by "the use of Cambodian territory by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese army units."

The State Department addressed itself to the issue shortly after Cambodia broadcast a communique saying that it would "offer desperate resistance" to any U.S. forces entering Cambodia "allegedly pursuing Communist Vietnamese forces." The communique said it would call for help from military forces of other countries.

McCloskey said the United States, in a Dec. 4 note to Prince Norodom Sihanouk's government, tried to give him information which would help him deal with the problem of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces seeking sanctuary in Cambodia after battles with allied forces in the South.

The note, according to McCloskey, pointed out that the United States "has made or supported a number of proposals" to try to deal with the problem. It reaffirmed the U.S. government's belief that expanding and strengthening the International Control Commission along the Cambodian border would be a good way of accomplishing this.

McCloskey also acknowledged the United States received late last week a reply from Cambodia which again rejected the idea that Communist Vietnamese forces in any number are on Cambodian territory and charged the United States was trying to impose its military will over the whole area.

Greek king may return to Athens

ATHENS UPI — The Greek military regime heard Tuesday that King Constantine might return before the first of the year to the throne he fled following his unsuccessful counter-coup.

Retired Gen. Haralambos Potamianos, a close friend of the royal family, returned to Athens Monday night from a visit in Rome with the 27-year-old monarch. It was the third trip to Rome in 10 days for the general, sent by the government.

"I am very optimistic the king will return," he said. "It is certain, 100 per cent certain, perhaps within a few days. I cannot hide my joy."

Some reports said Constantine would return to Athens in time for a New Year's rite in the Athens Cathedral traditionally attended by the diplomatic corps who offer best wishes to the monarch. If Constantine did not return, the diplomatic corps could be placed in an embarrassing position.

In the king's absence, the ceremony might be attended by the government-appointed regent, Lt. Gen. George Zoiakias, thus confronting diplomats with the dilemma of ignoring the ceremony or implicitly recognizing Zoiakias as regent. Ambassadors of the leading powers so far have refrained from any step that could be interpreted as recognition.

Two earth tremors

SEATTLE, Wash. UPI — Two morning earth tremors, probably centered off Vancouver Island in British Columbia, were recorded Tuesday at the University of Washington seismographic center.

Norman Rasmussen, university seismologist, said the first shock was recorded at 1:31.09 a.m. PST 4:31.09 a.m. EST and the second shock at 2:42.09 a.m. PST 5:42.09 a.m. EST.

The first shock registered between 4.5 and 5 on the Richter scale, Rasmussen said, and the second between 4.0 and 4.5.

There were no reports of the quakes being felt by residents in western Washington. The quake also was recorded by the University of California seismographic station.

HARDWOOD HIGHLIGHTS

By FRANK PUCKETT Jr., BANNER SPORTS EDITOR

It was a non-productive weekend as far as county standings went and only Greencastle and Roachdale held contests. Greencastle played host to Plainfield and almost slacked off enough for the visiting Quakers to beat them in a loosely played fourth quarter and the Hawks bowed low to host Ladoga 82-60.

Greencastle played nip and tuck ball during the first quarter then hit Plainfield with their back breaking press for a couple of quarters, gaining as much as 30 points. Going into the final period coach Dave McCracken emptied his bench and the Cubs went scoreless for almost six minutes! The Quakers, paced by a honey of a performance from 6-2 Don Casselman, scored 22 points in the period and the home floor Cubs had a glorious six point total. Casselman netted 36 points before the game ended.

I know of a good many ways to end a ball game besides scoring two field goals and two free throws while the opponent scores 22 points, especially if my team hits 21 of 41 field goal attempts the first half.

The Cubs pulled the game out with a 84-74 win and bettered their season record to 6-2.

Roachdale met a lot of trouble against Ladoga, as they have quite a few opponents lately, and dropped their sixth in nine outings. The only Hawks player to score in double figures was Earl Harvey; he netted 19.

Cloverdale naps over the holidays with a 9-0 slate and is scheduled to meet Eminence for the second time this year January 9. Bainbridge's 9-1 record is safe until they meet Roachdale January 5, Greencastle goes up against Thorntown tonight in the Zionsville Tournament with a 6-2 record. Russellville will play New Ross January 5, and Reelsville meets Fillmore the same night.

Greencastle's Tiger Cubs embark on a journey to Zionsville tonight where they hope to pick up a first leg victory from favored Thorntown in the third annual Zionsville Holiday Basketball Tournament.

ketball Tournament.

It is the first time the Cubs have taken part in the Zionsville tourney and they open up against one of Boone County's best prep teams — undefeated Thorntown. The Cubs carry a hearty 6-2 slate into the contest, but the Keewasakes are boasting a brilliant 9-0 record.

Thorntown has won over Wainwright 65-62, Darlington 79-77, Rossville 73-48, Clinton Prairie 92-67, Brownsburg 76-67, New Market 109-46, Covington 73-63, and Sheridan 78-64. The Keewasakes were in the tournament last year with a 3-5 record and bit the dust when host Zionsville thumped them 72-59 in the first round.

They are led in scoring by Danny Gunn and John Randell. Gunn is averaging 21.6 points and Randell has hit at a 19.7

clip thus far this season. Gary Lanpher carries a 15.4 average. Randell has been the big gun lately, scoring an average of 24 points a game in the last five outings.

Greencastle is paced by 6-2 forward Pete Norris who carries a 21 point plus average along with Terry Ross and Don Irwin. Ross has hit consistently for 16 points a game and Irwin has tallied a 12-point average.

Zionsville's foe, Mooresville, owns victories over Monrovia 83-60, Brownsburg 65-63, Plainfield 83-77 in an overtime, Martinsville 79-77, and Ritter 73-69 in another overtime. The Mooresville losses have been to Speedway 49-63, Decatur Central 72-78, and Edgewood 60-63.

Zionsville, which came into last year's tourney winless in nine outings, upset the Keewasakes then was blasted by tournament champion Bainbridge 94-65.

The Eagles have been rolling this season with balanced scoring. The Zionsville wins have been over Cascade 71-70, Brebeuf 89-70, Pike 81-77, Frankfort 68-63, Decatur Central 81-

72, Beech Grove 82-60, and Clinton Central 62-60. The losses have been to Lawrence Central 67-73, and Carmel 72-81.

Mike Shoemaker and John Ross are the scoring leaders with each carrying a 17-point average. Bill Pock also has been averaging in double figures with 13 points a game. The Eagles bench strength has been the key to half their victories.

Zionsville's returning lettermen Ross and Pock were on last year's all-tourney team as were Gunn and Rex Goldsberry from Thorntown.

Russellville 8th grade host for holiday tourney

John Gibson, junior high coach at Russellville, has announced the school will host a four-team invitational eighth grade holiday tournament Friday, December 29.

Visiting schools are Bainbridge, Fillmore, and Reelsville. Starting times will be 12:30 for first round afternoon games and 6:30 for the consolation game with the championship tussle following. A twelve-noon drawing will be held to determine first round opposition. Awards for first and second place will be presented immediately following the final game.

As an added note parents of the Russellville Band members will be on hand serve refreshments during and after the games. Admission price is 50 and 75 cents.

NEW YORK UPI — About four dozen balls are used in an average major league baseball game.

Talented Wesleyan brings 4-1 record into DPU tourney

Talented Ohio Wesleyan University will bring a shiny 4-1 record into DePauw University's holiday doubleheader which opens Friday night at 7 p.m. in Bowman Gymnasium.

The Battling Bishops, who just finished up a three-game stand in an eight-team tourney at Norfolk, Virginia, will face host DePauw in the double-header's opening match.

The Buckeye squad has dumped Mount Union 76-48, Oberlin 68-60, and defeated Denison, another DePauw entry, 85-70. The squad's only loss in collegiate ranks has been to the University of Buffalo, 66-52, at Norfolk. Wesleyan defeated Concord College in the same event, 86-73, and lost 81-68 to a Norfolk Navy team, a loss that does not count in NCAA reckoning.

Wesleyan, much like the DePauw team it faces, never knows who'll be the high scorer. Six-one junior forward Dave Eyrych was high in the Norfolk opener with 21.

Next time out 6-1 junior guard Chip Rosser threw in 19 and in the third game it was yet a third man, 6-3 Bill Rowland, who paced the Bishops with 18 against Concord.

Wesleyan's hopes for a pair of victories at DePauw suffered a possible setback in the Buffalo game. Starting guard Doug Regula, 6-0, seriously sprained his right ankle late in the game and did not play against Concord.

Wesleyan sports information director Bob Cleveland said it appears Regula has torn ligaments, but that it's probable that he'll be ready to meet the Tigers Friday night.

Prior to the Norfolk visit Wesleyan had four men hitting in double figures. Besides Eyrych, who was averaging 16.7, Rosser had 14.0, 6-3 Dave McDaniel 10.7, and 6-4 Tom Carnes 13.0.

Wesleyan carried a phenomenal .515 team shooting average into the Norfolk tourney, but streak ran out there temporarily when the club dropped to .320 against the Navy team and to .350 against Buffalo.

McDaniel and Eyrych has been particularly deadly. The former is shooting .813 (13 of 16) and Eyrych is .684 on 26 of 38!

In Friday night's second game 5-1 Wabash will play 3-2 Denison at 8:45. Wabash will open with Wesleyan Saturday evening and DePauw will tackle Denison in the Saturday nightcap.

Season tickets are $2 or $1.25 per session at the door.

The problem of late-afternoon shadows that creep across a baseball infield has been solved—at least on television. Engineers at RCA report they have developed a new camera that for the first time mobines light weight with the ability to handle the high contrasts in lighting that are encountered in televising outdoor action.

Brown leads Pacers to win

Indiana's Pacers downed New Jersey, 117-107, to register their first home victory since Dec. 7 Tuesday night in the nightcap of the first doubleheader in American Basketball Association history.

In the opening game, New Orleans dumped last-place Anaheim, 120-93, to strengthen its hold on first place in the ABA western division.

The Pacers, with seven players in double figures, led most of the way and went ahead for good early in the second period. Roger Brown led Indiana with 25 points and Jerry Harkness had 21 in his first starting assignment of the season. Harkness filled in for ailing captain Freddie Lewis.

Barry Leibowitz led New Jersey with 20 points and Tony Jackson had 19.

New Orleans grabbed a 35-28 lead in the first period against Anaheim and increased the margin the rest of the way. Doug Moe had 26 points to lead six Buccaneers in double figures while Larry Bunce was high for the Amigos with 19 points.

The doubleheader drew a crowd which eventually totaled 5,999 with 4,500 on hand for the first game.

Tourney slate includes I.U.

By United Press International Indiana's unbeaten Hoosiers head the list of state teams seeking action this week in college basketball holiday tourneys.

The fifth-ranked Hoosiers, currently 6-0 for the season, face some tough competition in the Dallas tourney Thursday and Friday. The field also includes Southern Methodist, California and Western Kentucky.

Indiana State, No. 4 among the small colleges in the latest rankings, plays in the Golden Spike tourney Wednesday and Thursday at Ogden, Utah, hosted by Weber State.

Another state power, Evansville, will be host for its annual holiday fare Friday and Saturday with George Washington, Florida State and Montana providing the opposition.

Tourneys also will be hosted by Indiana Central and DePauw, Indiana Central's Capital City tourney Thursday and Friday features Marian, Indiana Tech and North Central. DePauw's show Friday and Saturday includes Wabash, Ohio Wesleyan and Denison.

Manchester and Taylor will play in the tourney at Marshall, Mich., Thursday and Friday while Valparaiso is slated for the Motor City feature in Detroit over the weekend.

Single features include Butler at Michigan Wednesday, Villa Madonna at Notre Dame and Eastern Kentucky at Ball State, both Thursday, Murray State at Butler Friday, and Notre Dame vs. Kentucky at Louisville Saturday.

Army chief is fired

ALGIERS UPI — President Houari Boumedienne Tuesday officially fired Col. Tahar Zbiri, the army chief of staff who led an unsuccessful attempt to oust the president nearly two weeks ago.

But the reports circulated that Zbiri was actually fired secretly six weeks before the abortive coup when Boumedienne first suspected his loyalty.

Boumedienne took over the army Dec. 14 but Zbiri's status has been unknown until Thursday.

A notice published in the official Journal said Zbiri was no longer army chief of staff and was "considered chief of the sedition" attempted by his followers near the north central Algerian town of El Afroun.

Zbiri disappeared with some other army officers and civil servants shortly after Boumedienne ordered MIG19 jets in to crush an advance of Algiers by a tank column led by the rebellious Zbiri.

Proxmire hits private contractors use of government equipment

WASHINGTON UPI — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Tuesday shady practices in the defense industry are making the taxpayer pay twice for some military hardware. He said he would make public the names of the guilty contractors.

Investigation by a subcommittee of the House-Senate Economic Committee Proxmire heads showed the government has been losing millions because certain contractors misused some of the $15 billion worth of government-owned equipment in private hands, Proxmire said.

"Single machines that cost more money than most people see in a lifetime are being diverted from public to private use without the government's permission and for virtually no reimbursement," Proxmire charged in a statement announcing the forthcoming disclosures.

As a result, he said, "the man in the street pays twice instead of once to get a jet engine built to equip a plane for Vietnam." Proxmire said the committee's panel on economy in government had initiated a Defense Department crackdown on contractors using some of the government-owned equipment supposed to be used primarily for federal contracting work.

"A number of defense contractors were using government equipment most of the time for their own commercial gain rather than on defense work, he said.

Investigators for the committee and for the General Accounting Office also turned up violations of the Truth-in-Negotiations act, Proxmire reported, and the Pentagon agreed to crack down on that.

The act, described by Proxmire as "the taxpayers only defense against blatant overcharges on purchases by the government where the competitive bidding mechanism cannot be employed," governs 85 percent of the Defense Department's procurement.

Shopping Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for UPI.

WASHINGTON UPI—USIA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that weekend shoppers, preparing for the New Year holiday, will find good supplies of meat and poultry and adequate supplies of some fresh fruits and vegetables at food stores and supermarkets.

Broiler - fryer chickens and turkeys continue as the most abundant meats. These will be holiday - feature buys in all areas. In most areas, especially in the South, food shoppers will find good supplies of salt pork or hog jowls to help flavor the traditional good-luck dish of black-eyed peas for New Year's Day. Other meats in good supply include beef roasts and steaks, hams, smoked picnics, and pork roasts. The U.S. Department of the Interior reports that stocks of fish sticks and portions and frozen fish fillets and steaks all ample in all areas.

Cabbage, potatoes and onions are the featured vegetables this week. Severe weather in some growing areas has slowed the marketing of celery, radishes, tomatoes and other vegetables in some areas. Apples and grapefruit continue as leaders among abundantly available fruit. Bananas are also in this category in some areas.

PROPERTY SEIZURE

ADEN UPI — The government of South Yemen today began confiscating the lands, homes, places, automobiles, furniture, bank account and jewelry of 12 former sultans, prince and minister. The government announced Tuesday it was "retrieving" the property "unlawfully" seized during British rule.

EPIDEMIC CONTINUES

LONDON UPI — Twenty-one new outbreaks of whooping cough and mouth disease epidemic Tuesday brought the total number of cases to 2,112, the Ministry of Agriculture announced. More than 300,000 farm animals have been slaughtered because of the disease.

Try and Stop Me

—By BENNETT CERF—

A COUPLE of late diners rushed up to the ticket taker at a summer playhouse on Cape Cod and demanded, "Is the curtain up yet?" "It can't be," the ticket taker assured them, "because I'm also the star."

A sociologist, embarked on a book exposing the troubles resulting from over-large families, interviewed one mother of 14 children. In the course thereof, he asked, "Do you think all children rate the full, impartial love and attention of a mother, or do you, for instance, catch yourself loving one of them more than the others?" "There's always one I love best," admitted the mother. "Which one?" asked the sociologist. The mother answered, "The one who's sick—until he gets well, or the one who's away—until he gets home."

RIDDLE-DE-DEE:

Q. What should a dentist say when a patient tells him he wants his teeth checked?
A. "That's funny. Most people prefer them white."
Q. What do you get if you cross a sports car with a Diesel locomotive?
A. A funeral.
Q. How can you buy a stock at 10 and sell it at 79?
A. Sell it the day before your eightieth birthday.

ACLU attorney wants Clay's conviction overturned

ATLANTA UPI — An attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union has asked a federal court to overturn the conviction of deposed heavyweight champion Cassius Clay on grounds southern draft boards discriminate against Negroes.

Clay was sentenced to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine, the maximum penalty, following his refusal to be inducted at Houston last April.

Charles Morgan, an Atlanta attorney for the ACLU, said that Selective Service boards had discriminated against Negroes in the South and against Clay in particular.

Morgan said Monday he filed the appeal in the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans last Friday, claiming the board discriminated against Clay by denying him the status of conscientious ob-jector or the classification of minister.

Clay, who now goes by the name of Muhammad Ali, says he is a Black Muslim minister. Morgan charged in the brief that no Negroes were on local draft boards in Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

In Kentucky, where Clay filed his first draft induction appeal, Morgan said there are 13 Negroes on local draft boards while equal representation would require 45. He said in Texas, where Clay had his final appeal, "there should have been 80 Negroes rather than the seven now on the boards."

Following his refusal to be inducted, Clay was stripped of his world heavyweight boxing title.

Defense started in stock trial

NEW YORK UPI — The defense in the stock trial of former Wall Street wizard Lowell M. Birrell attempted to establish Tuesday that an important government witness was once fired from a brokerage job for dishonesty.

The trial of Birrell, formerly of Whiteland, Ind., before Federal Judge William B. Herlands and a seven man, five woman jury entered its fourth week with testimony from George Dines, an attorney for the New York brokerage firm of Thomas Haab and Botts.

Dines said he dismissed the government witness, Paul Sarnoff, last May after making a trip to Denver to make settlement on a claim by a Wyoming man whose stock had been traded by Sarnoff without his permission or that of the brokerage firm. The witness said because of Sarnoff's improper handling of the account, he was under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission and so was Thomas Haab and Botts.

Under cross examination, Dines admitted that Sarnoff's firing had nothing to do with the sale of American Leduc Petroleum Ltd. stock in 1954 and 1955. Birrell is charged with selling unregistered shares of stock in the company, which he headed, in violation of the Securities and Exchange Act.

Sarnoff had testified earlier that he received $65,000 in cash as his commission for selling more than 600,000 shares of American Leduc stock at the request of Birrell.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

MILWAUKEE, Wis. UPI — Edward Jacobson told a judge Tuesday he thought he was on the County Expressway when a policeman flagged him down on Christmas Eve.

"What do you think all these airplanes are doing around here?" the policeman asked him. "You're driving down the runway at General Mitchell Field."

NEW DELEGATE

CAIRO UPI — Former Premier Mohsen El Ainy has been named Yemen's chief delegate to the United Nations, the semi-official Middle East News Agency said Tuesday night. Ainy resigned as premier last week in favor of Lt. Gen. Hassan El Amri.

Industry and agriculture are Florida's biggest pursuits.

Hollywood news

HOLLYWOOD UPI — John Wayne bellowed like a wounded moose: "All right, it's getting dark. Let's move the camera over by that knoll. There's just enough time to get in one more shot."

Wayne was shouting to his crew on the back lot of Warner Bros.-Seven Arts where he is completing "The Green Berets." For the second time in his career the big guy is directing as well as starring in a movie. His first was "The Alamo."

A bit heavier than in his past pictures, Wayne did not appear to be a man who had had a cancerous lung removed three years ago. Indeed, his stamina is something to see. He is on his feet 12 hours a day setting up shots, directing his camera crew and actors as if he was still in his 20s.

With more than 200 movies under his belt he knows what he's doing.

Costumed in Army battle attire, Wayne was thoroughly believable as a tough combat colonel. He gives the impression he could out-drink, out-fight and out-cuss any man he ever met.

And at 60, he'd more likely give it a try.

"The first thing you've got to do is get the actors' confidence," Wayne said, "especially if they're being directed by another actor."

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM

The news from Africa isn't always bad.

In the town of Arusha, in the midst of northern Tanzania's coffee and livestock growing country at the first of December, Tanzania, Kenya and Uganda formally brought into being the East African Community.

It was a major accomplishment, considering the pressures of the last three years brought on by the East-West cold war, the ideological warfare between the Soviet Union and Red China and the warring nationalism of Black Africa itself.

It also was evidence of a new sentiment among new African nations, perhaps of growing up, of a desire to get along with neighbors and of a knowledge of the cost of political and economic disintegration.

The East African Community does not mean political integration among the three, although at first it did.

This is a call for economic integration, short of the political and economic federation proposed in 1963 but more than seemed even remotely possible at the start of this year.

Bridge disaster toll now 36

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. UPI — The body of a young woman was recovered from the Ohio River today, raising to 36 the toll of known dead in the collapse of the Silver Bridge Dec. 15.

The latest victim found was Mrs. Glenna Mae Taylor, 23, Point Pleasant. Her body was recovered by a small boat using a grappling hook.

State police said 13 persons still were missing.

Salvage crews worked to recover two cars with four victims still submerged amid the twisted wreckage of the 1,750-foot-long span which gave way under the weight of bumper-to-bumper traffic.

Police said many of the missing victims apparently were swept from their vehicles.

HUSBAND HELD

LAFAYETTE, UPI — John P. Walker Jr., 31, Lafayette, was charged with assault and battery with intent to kill in the stabbing of his wife during a family fight.

The charge was filed in City Court.

Police said Mrs. Mary Jo Walker, 25, suffered only minor wounds when she was stabbed in the back.

Walker was held on $1,000 bond and a preliminary hearing was set for Jan. 15.

Woman to Woman

NEW YORK UPI — Young people see churches and parents talking one way and acting another. Call it the preaching-practice gap.

It is one reason, in this season of good will, that Dr. James M. Egan finds the nation slipping in the matter of raising children of good will.

Egan, national vice president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews NCCJ, is director of the parent-centered project—"rearing children of good will."

"Good will," he said in an interview, "is being willing to give to other people and their children the same rights and responsibilities you want for yourself and your children."

Some Samples

Samples: Better housing, a decent education, work and career opportunities.

"You cultivate good will in children only by example," he said.

In dozens of "raising children of good will" workshops across the nation and in helping to prepare for the 1970 White House conference on youth and prejudice, he's observed that youngsters say pretty much the same things.

"They see parents and churches talking one way and acting in another," he said.

"They say, then, what the church and parents say does not apply in their own lives."

"It's one reason you have hippies. Parents' lives with lost meaning in terms of problems they are faced with."

Parents Can Tell

Egan said a parent can tell if he has good will only by concrete demonstration of same.

"You demonstrate by accepting disadvantaged children in your school, by not fighting housing developments for minority groups in your neighborhood."

During 1967, according to the expert, there was a hardening of the prejudice line, especially in the North.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK UPI — Newton D. Zinder of E. F. Hutton & Co. says this week is traditionally a strong one for the stock market but warns against putting too much faith in this tradition judging from the "less than favorable technical background at present."

The analyst also points out that last year was an exception in the year-end rally pattern and that tradition could be broken again this year.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute, Inc. believes the best course of action would be to delay making new purchases until January when the market's direction can be more easily charted—"free of the usual turn of the year institutional activity."

The company says, however, this policy does not hold to such undervalued issues as the steels which are "current bargains due to tax selling pressure."

Ralph A. Rotnem of Harris, Upham & Co. feels "window dressing" and the letup of year-end tax selling should help the market this week and believes, looking at history, the year-end rally could carry over into early next year and push the Dow Jones industrial average up to the 920-930 level.

OFF and RUNNING

By Tony D. Manuel General Manager

Mrs. F. K. Wuertz and family had an exciting Christmas Day. They had a candle setting on top of the piano. The candle burned down, fell over and burned the top of the piano. If they hadn't heard the candle fall over it could have been a very serious fire. However, they will have to have the top of the piano refinished. After the fire they opened the front and back doors to let the smoke out and the wind caught the back door, blew it against the wall and broke out the glass. Then, as if this weren't enough, the dog got into a box of chocolate covered cherries and strung them all over the house. Mrs. Wuertz tells me that chocolate is not the easiest thing in the world to get off carpets. But, I am happy to report, they all had a Merry Christmas, even with all the confusion.

I have been told that Robert Call will be opening up George's Pizza from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. after the first of the year. They will be open for breakfast and lunch.

All right, all you men who wore your Christmas ties yesterday hold up your hand. Aha, there's one that didn't. What's the matter, men, don't be frightened; just do like I did. I wore mine yesterday. I figured that everyone would be so busy exchanging things that they wouldn't have time to notice my new tie. And I was right. But now we'll all be on the lookout for those of you who didn't have the courage to wear yours on the first day. Why is it that every year I always get a tie that won't go with any of my suits. The trouble is it's either from my wife or my mother, so I've got to wear it.

I see that the coffee break has now become the No. 1 fringe benefit in American industry. It's been estimated that 27 million workers, blue and white-collar, get an average of 20 minutes off a day to recharge their energies with coffee. Gee, that's a lot of coffee.

PICKS WINNERS

LONDON UPI — The London Daily Mail, which annually picks the men and events of the year around the world, declined today to name an American of 1967 because no one was entitled to the honor. The newspaper chose the all-Negro version of "Hello, Dolly" as its play of the year, "The Confessions of Nat Turner," by William Styron as its book of the year and "Bonnie and Clyde" as its film of the year.

THEFT UNSOLVED

OSAKA, Japan UPI — Immediately after the 357 members of the Kinki District Police School graduated today they were ordered confined to quarters and questioned individually about the theft of $30. The thief was not found and the 357 students, all of them veteran policemen taking a retraining course, were allowed to leave.

Powell enjoying his Bahama vacation; is in good health

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
BIMINI, The Bahamas UPI—
It took about 10 minutes of back-bending, arm-wrenching work to get the six-foot wahoo into the boat. When the thrashing fish was clubbed into submission, the fisherman stepped into the cabin, opened a beer and grinned at his visitor.

"Now, how was that for an old man?" Adam Clayton Powell asked.

It would have been an impressive display of physical fitness and mental alertness for any man in his 60th year.

In Powell's case, it debunked a trickle of stories in recent months that he was sick in body, mind and spirit.

This reporter spent 13 hours, ashore and afloat, with Powell over a two-day period, and the conclusion has to be that he never looked healthier or seemed more relaxed.

Powell is acutely aware of the stories that have circulated about him and his way of life in the last year. He reacts alternately with amazement and disdain when asked about claims, printed and spoken, that he was becoming senile, that he had been deserted by his friends, that he was "climbing the walls," that he could not cover his fishing bets, that he had become a drunk.

"Well, I do have trouble sleeping . . . more than 10 hours a night," he said. "But sometimes, I get 12 hours in."

At the same time, Powell obviously still itches for the roar of the crowd responding to his voice. He denies ill feeling toward the men and the circumstances that sent him into virtual exile on this scrubby island in the Gulf stream, but an edge of bitterness comes through.

"I weep only for the republic," he rumbles in practiced platform tones. But when the talk touches on some of his former colleagues, Powell makes clear he believes he was sold out by erstwhile friends. Powell remained convinced that racial prejudice was a principal motivation for his ouster, rather than the stated reason that he mishandled congressional payroll and travel funds. The fact that Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., was only censured without loss of status for mishandling campaign contributions, and that the House showed no inclination to pursue other known abuses seems to fortify Powell's feeling.

He was disinclined to embrace the reporter's suggestion that his troubles were due to an American trait of cutting down a public man who gets too big, and he expressed no regret over his own demeanor before or since the ouster.

Powell's public style is little changed. Only last week he issued a slashing attack on a group of liberals who proposed a formal arrangement for a Washington office to serve the Harlem congressional district—apparently feeling that his silence about such a plan might seem to be tacit recognition that the action against him was legal.

Though mellow in some ways, and protective and solicitous of those who still remain at his side, Powell seems ready to tear into the fabric of American society more fiercely than ever before. He wants to speak especially to young persons, and says his bids for lectures are coming from the schools — "would you believe it, from the white college kids." Powell makes no secret of his eagerness to get back to the United States and onto a speaking platform. He displays a sheaf of speaking invitations and says he is primed to hit the lecture circuit as soon as his lawyers believe it is safe for him to return.
